

Habakkuk 1:12–2:1

Listening Guide · Week 4 · October 4, 2026

Where We Are

- God is bringing Babylon against Judah. Habakkuk brings his _____ complaint.

I. It's this honest question of God, isn't this who you are? (1:12)

- Habakkuk knows God is _____, self-sufficient, and set apart from His creation.
- Yahweh is his God, his _____ One, and his unmovable _____.
- God has appointed Babylon for judgment and reproof. Reproof rebukes with the intention of _____.
- We can know who God is and still struggle to reconcile our experiences with what we believe.

II. If this is who you are, then how can you allow this? (1:13)

- God sees evil, but His holiness means He cannot _____ it.
- Judah is guilty, but Babylon is _____. Habakkuk questions the method of God's judgment.
- We can bring honest questions to God with reverence and keep listening. Jeremiah 12:1 asks why the wicked prosper.

III. I know who you are but this is who they are. (1:14–17)

- People are pictured as _____, vulnerable to the fisherman's capture.
- Genesis 1:26 describes people ruling over the creatures. Habakkuk pictures those people as the catch.
- Babylon worships its _____. Its power and success have become its god.

IV. Lord, even though I have all these questions, I will wait and watch for you (2:1)

- Habakkuk takes his post, stays alert, and waits for God to respond.
- While we wait and watch, we are to serve _____ where God has placed us.
- We surrender _____ over what we cannot change and keep doing the little things faithfully.
- For us, listening begins with _____. Let God's Word shape our hearts and correct our view of Him.
- Hebrews 2:8–9 points us to Jesus while much remains unseen. We can trust Him while we still have questions.

This Week

- Bring your questions to God. Keep His Word open. Be watchful and serve faithfully, even if He never gives the explanation you wanted.
